This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

613. Short Coat for Men

Henriques Model

UNTIL the advent of the Henriques models, garments of leather found little or no favor—the penalty, uncouthness and discomfort, was too great. The soft, pliable Danish Leather allows a freedom of action which the hard, stiff domestic leathers restrain. This double breasted coat has stitched cuffs, collar and six pockets. The tailoring is of an exceptionally high grade, wholly foreign to the coats which are made in this country. Length thirty inches, in sizes thirty-four to fifty.

a. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in black, lined with Venetian cloth $15.00

b. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in tan, lined with Venetian cloth $20.00

For sizes 48 and 50 add $1.00.

604. Short Coat for Men

Henriques Model

THIS garment defines the highest expression of the leather-workers' craft. The kid-skin is almost as soft as a fabric, but even rough and constant service will scarce leave its imprint. Henriques is at his best in the tailoring of this coat which owes its character and style entirely to his cleverness. Down the centre on the left, a strap of stitched leather holds the buttons. So that they may not curl, the cuffs and skirt are liberally stitched. The five pockets all have wide stitched flaps. Length thirty-two to thirty-five inches, in sizes thirty-four to fifty.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, Venetian lined $18.50

b. Of Danish Leather, in tan, Venetian lined $25.00

For sizes 48 and 50 add $1.50.

600. Short Coat for Men

Henriques Model

IF you were to ask us why we invest our faith and invite yours in the Henriques garments, we could not advance a better reason than this coat demonstrates. It is the most inexpensive coat of Danish Leather which our stock affords. While the leather is not of the very highest grade, it is infinitely superior to the better class of domestic skins. The very simplicity of the coat defines the true value of the Henriques system of tailoring. It is a double breasted model with a deep collar and two side pockets. Length twenty-nine inches, in sizes thirty-four to fifty.

a. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in black, lined with fleeced cotton cloth $8.00

For sizes 48 and 50 add $1.00.

601. Short Coat for Men

Henriques Model

THE important phase of the Henriques system is this: though the price of the garment be ever so modest, the one high standard governs the tailoring—to which the perfect proportions of this double breasted model attest. The deep collar has a concealed tab with which the collar may be fastened when turned up. The half belt confines the back. The flaps on the three pockets, the straps to which the buttons are fastened, and the cuffs are all liberally tailor stitched. Length twenty-nine inches, in sizes thirty-four to fifty.

a. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in black, plaid lined..$12.00

b. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in black, finest grade, two extra vertical pockets, lined with Venetian cloth..$15.00

For sizes 48 and 50 add $1.00.

603. Norfolk Coat for Men

Henriques Model

THE tailoring of a leather coat taxes the cleverness of the craftsman; the Norfolk model, exhausts it. The distinguishing feature of this garment is the yoke which gives to the shoulders a broad, well developed contour. The plaits which begin at the yoke, full belt and pockets (of which there are three) are all liberally stitched. Length thirty inches, in sizes thirty-four to fifty.

a. Of Sheepskin Leather, in black, lined with Venetian cloth $10.50

b. Of Kidskin Leather, in black, Venetian lined.$17.50

c. Of Danish Leather, in black, lined with Venetian or plaid cloth $25.00

d. Of Danish Leather, in tan, lined with plaid or Venetian cloth $25.00

For sizes 48 and 50 add $1.00.

614. Norfolk Coat for Men

Henriques Model

THOUGH it be the handicraft of the Henriques tailormen, the design of the coat is ours. We found that for the tall men the conservative Norfolk afforded insufficient protection. This new model is in answer to the need. It is a single breasted Norfolk with wide plaits on both the back and front. The cuffs, the full belt, the plaits and the flaps on the two side pockets, are all liberally stitched. The plaits conceal two vertical pockets. In its every detail the coat is tailored a deal better than you would expect in a garment of leather. Length thirty-five inches, in sizes thirty-four to fifty.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, plaid lined $25.00

b. Of Danish Leather, in tan, Venetian lined $27.50

For sizes 48 and 50 add $2.00.

606. Long Coat for Men

Henriques Model

A GARMENT of of this character makes one conscious of the superiority of the Danish system of tanning, which leaves the leather light and pliable. The coat is tailored to follow the lines of the shoulders and chest; the skirt is full. The top and two side pockets have flaps; the vertical pockets, shields. The Henriques tailormen devote their entire time to the fashioning of leather garments. The advantage of this persistent application to a given thing, is aptly demonstrated in the tailoring and finish of this coat. Length fifty to fifty-two inches, in sizes thirty-four to forty-six.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, Venetian lined $30.00

b. Of Danish Leather, in tan, Venetian lined $45.00

615. Long Coat for Men

Henriques Model

DESPITE its almost extreme length, this coat is not at all heavy nor cumbersome. Coats of this character which are made in this country are of innumerable pieces of leather and in multi shades of color. The Henriques garments are of whole skins, well tanned and carefully matched in color. The tailoring is infinitely better than that which finds expression in the domestic garments. Double breasted model with a half belt and storm collar. The garment has three pockets with wide flaps. Sizes thirty-four to fifty; length fifty to fifty-two inches.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, plaid lined $25.00

b. Of Danish Leather, in tan, Venetian lined $45.00

For sizes 48 and 50 add $2.00.

616. Long Coat for Men

Henriques Model

DANISH Leather of the highest grade and serviceable furs contribute their might to rob a winter day's journey of its sting. We present the coat in four styles—two lined with cloth and two with fur. The entire series is with collars and cuffs of serviceable nutria fur. Length fifty to fifty-two inches, in sizes thirty-two to forty-four.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, collar and cuffs of nutria fur, lined with Venetian cloth $50.00

b. Of Danish Leather, in tan, collar and cuffs of natural nutria fur, lined with Venetian cloth $65.00

c. Of Danish Leather, in tan, collar and cuffs of natural nutria fur, lined with astrakhan fur $100.00

d. Of Danish Leather, in black, collar and cuffs of dyed nutria fur, lined with astrakhan fur $100.00

617. Short Coat for Men

Henriques Model

IN itself the fashioning of a leather garment demands much of the tailorman. If it be lined with fur, he must exercise the most intricate phases of his craft to insure the measure of style and perfect fit which characterize this coat. The fancy yoke relieves this double breasted model of its severity. The cuffs and the shields on the two vertical pockets are liberally tailor stitched. The fur with which the coat is lined, is a serviceable grade of astrakhan. Length thirty-five inches, in sizes thirty-four to thirty-six.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, lined with black astrakhan fur, collar of near-seal fur $45.00

b. Of Danish Leather, in maroon, lined with astrakhan fur, collar of nutria.$50.00

618. Long Coat for Men

Henriques Model

DECEPTION was never practiced for a better purpose than in the fashioning of this Henriques coat. Its office is two-fold —that of a leather great-coat and lap robe. On the inside, from the waist to the edge of the garment, a wide shield of leather is attached, which the tourist needs but button to the left pocket and hip to convert into a robe. So cleverly is it designed that one is never conscious of the presence of the shield until comfort calls it into requisition. Length fifty to fifty-two inches, in sizes thirty-four to fifty.

a. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in black, lined with Venetian or plaid cloth...$45.00

b. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in tan, lined with Venetian or plaid cloth.....$55.00

For sizes 48 and 50 add $2.50.

619. Auto Cape for Men

Henriques Model

IT needs the fierce temper of the north wind to make one conscious of the comfort which a cape of Danish Leather insures. This voluminous military model with a storm collar which fastens with a tab, and a wide fly front, is large enough to include the wheel of the machine within the province of its protection. Since a garment of this character often finds itself in service in the rain, we present the model fashioned of the better grade of leather, treated by a process which makes it impervious to water. Length thirty-four inches, in small, medium and large sizes.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, Venetian lined $17.50

b. Of Danish Leather, in tan, Venetian lined $20.00

620. Waistcoat for Men

Henriques Model

FOR those who cannot reconcile themselves to a garment of leather for conventional reasons, and yet demand the absolute protection which it affords, this waistcoat suggests itself. It is a double breasted model with four pockets. Sizes thirty-four to forty-four.

a. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in black, Venetian lined. Without sleeves and without collar $6.00

b. With sleeves and without collar $10.50

c. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in tan, Venetian lined. Without sleeves and without collar $12.00

d. Of Undressed Kidskin, in tan. With sleeves and without collar $13.50

e. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in black, Venetian lined. With collar and with sleeves $15.00

f. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in tan, Venetian lined. With collar and with sleeves $16.50

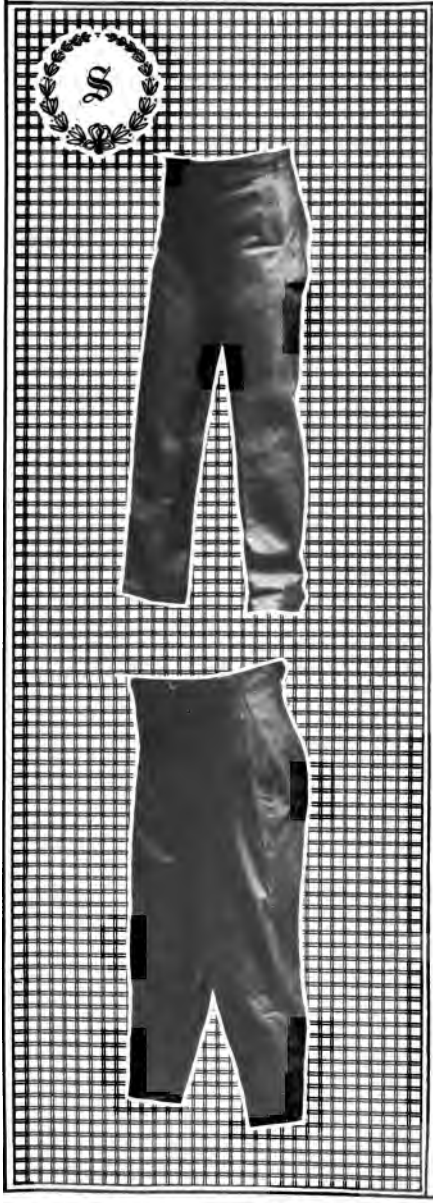
621. Waistcoat for Men

Henriques Model

PRUDENCE suggests a waistcoat for winter service under a coat of fur, leather or cloth, since in a careless moment one is apt to throw off the outer garment and suffer the penalty. It is a garment of this character that compels one to recognize the superiority of the Danish Leather which is soft and pliable enough to leave a waistcoat without the stiffness and restraint that characterize those made in this country. The four pockets have deep, tailor stitched flaps. We present the model in two styles—with and without sleeves. Sizes thirty-four to forty-four.

a. Of Suede Leather, in tan, lined with silk.
Without sleeves $10.00

b. With sleeves $16.50



622. Knickerbockers

Henriques Model

WHEN a leather coat and leggings are worn, breeches of leather commend themselves. This Henriques model is shaped to insure comfort and tailored for the strenuous service to which tne breeches may be subjected. They have belt loops at the waist and deep cuffs with three buttons below the knees.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, lined with Venetian cloth, X grade $12.50

b. XX grade $15.00

c. Of Danish Leather, in tan, Venetian lined $20.00

623. Long Trousers

Henriques Model

GOOD service and the warmth which they afford argue for trousers of leather. If they be of soft Danish Leather, comfort also. This model has belt loops and ankle straps.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, lined with Venetian cloth, X grade $12.50

b. XX grade $15.00

c. Of Danish Leather, in tan, Venetian lined $20.00

911. Long Coat for Men

914. Long Coat for Men

Saks Model

INSTEAD of confining ourselves to the few standard furs that the general market affords, we have gone beyond that province and have sought the exclusive pelts. Lemur, the fur of which this garment is fashioned, is one of them. Without imposing the penalty of abnormal weight, this fur promises a full measure of good service and comfort, let the temperature be as low as it may. Two vertical pockets, a liberal shawl collar, and a skirt of very generous proportions characterize the model. Length fifty-two inches, in sizes thirty-four to forty-four.

a. Of Lemur Fur, with shawl collar of beaver fur, yoke and sleeves lined with satin, body with wool cloth. $150.00

915. Long Coat for Men

Saks Model

TO those who are apt to subject a garment to constant and perhaps strenuous service, we would recommend this coat of Russian ponyskin. Though not at all heavy, the nature of the fur and the stout hide both contribute to insure immunity from even the intense cold. Nor will rain or snow find its way through this fur. The model is double breasted, fitted at the shoulders, and with a generous shawl collar and two vertical pockets. The large bone buttons lend not a little character to the coat. Length fifty-two inches, in sizes thirty-four to forty-two.

a. Of Russian Ponyskin, with collar of blended sealskin, yoke and sleeves lined with satin, body with heavy wool cloth $135.00

916. Long Coat for Men

Saks Model

WHILE we concern ourselves with fur garments at extremely modest prices, the strength of our organization is perhaps best demonstrated by the fur coats of the very highest character, among which this garment earns a place. It is fashioned of beaver fur. The model is double breasted and fastens with edge loops and buttons. The shawl collar is quite deep. Two vertical pockets. Throughout the tailoring is materially better than you will find in the average fur garments. Length fifty to fifty-four inches, in sizes thirty-eight to forty-six.

EXCLUSIVE, impressive, and in the greatest measure fit for the service for which it is intended, this fur-lined fur coat helps to demonstrate that our collection is abreast with the hour. The outer fur is one of the season's novelties—deerskin in brown spotted with white. The hamster fur with which the garment is lined, is of a good, serviceable grade, so that it will withstand the wear to which a lining is subjected. The shawl collar is of badger fur. Altogether it is one of the most serviceable coats which we have to offer. Length fifty-two inches, in sizes thirty-six to forty-four.

ONE can readily understand why the muskrat is often termed "water-mink," since its fur is characterized by all the brilliancy, softness and richness of the true mink. The fur of which this coat is fashioned is an exceptionally fine grade of muskrat. For the sake of contrast the shawl collar and large cuffs are of blended muskrat. The model is double breasted with two side pockets. The coat has had the benefit of that high standard of tailoring which governs those that cost again as much. UPON a fur lined garment the tailorman must exercise the intricate phases of his craft if he would have the coat marked with the vigorous style and perfect proportions which characterize this model. The shawl collar is of blended muskrat of a good, serviceable grade. The flaps on the two side pockets are tailor stitched. The skirt of the garment is liberal in proportions. COMFORT, and then as much style as is possible in a garment of this character, were the guiding principles in the designing of this long, loose, single breasted coat. It is an adaptation of a French model which is held in high favor abroad for general service. Clever tailoring compels the voluminous proportions to hang with a grace not at all common in garments ready-for-service. The collar and the pockets, of which there are two, are bound with wide leather straps. The leather cuffs and the edge of the skirt are liberally stitched. Length fifty-two to fifty-four inches, in sizes thirty-four to forty-six.

514. Convertible Coat

Strom Model

ACOMMENDable expression of Strom's ingenuity. At the back there is a vent from the waist to the end of the coat. The front on both sides is in the form of an "L," which permits the skirt to pass between and around the limbs and to be buttoned at the calf, thus converting the garment into a short coat and trousers. Straps on the cuffs to draw them tight at the wrists. Length fifty-two to sixty inches, in sizes thirty-four to forty-six.

520. Long Coat for Men

Dunhill Model

WHEN dust, hard service and the kindred penalties of touring are apt to leave their imprint upon a garment, this is a logical coat. It is fashioned of wide wale corduroy —a fabric which demands that a tailorman exercise his cleverness and the intricate phases of his craft to insure the character and distinctiveness which mark this coat. The model is double breasted, with half-belt in the back, large pearl buttons, a snap and ball fastener at the edge of the skirt and two vertical pockets with flaps. Length fifty-two to fifty-four inches, in sizes thirty-four to forty-two.

522. Long Coat for Men

Saks Model

OFTEN it is a simple innovation which promises the greatest benefit. In the garment presented here it is this: instead of buttoning to the end of the skirt, it is sewn together from the waist down, so that when one assumes a sitting position the skirt cannot part and it will serve as a robe. The model is double breasted and is slipped over the head like a shirt. The deep cuffs and collar are of Danish Leather. That exacting standard of ours has governed the tailoring. Length fifty to fifty-four inches, in sizes thirty-four to forty-four.

523. Long Coat for Men

Dunhill Model

ENGLISH tailormen, such as Dunhill, present the greater number of their garments fashioned of burberry cloth, which has been selected for this conservative coat. More than any other fabric of which we know is burberry waterproof, yet the texture and general character of the cloth have nothing in common with rubber. The coat fits snugly at the shoulders, from which the body drapes loosely, yet not without grace. Such garments as this best demonstrate the exceptionally high standard which governs the tailoring of our coats. Length fifty to fifty-four inches, in sizes thirty-four to forty-four.

5048. Long Coat for Women

La Belle Jardiniere Model

IN straining for an effect, most of the lesser lights among the designers abroad are given to over elaboration—a fault which never condemns a La Belle Jardiniere model. It is double breasted, with a strapped cape on the back and front, piped with leather. The altogether new collar and fancy cuffs are appliqued with leather. There are two side pockets. 5120. Skirt for Women

Henriques Model

FOR those who would have an entire suit of leather, Henriques has designed this skirt which may be worn with any of the leather coats presented in this book. It is a walking length model which follows the contour of the hips snugly and then flares at the bottom. Around the body of the skirt a wide leather strap is stitched in a fancy design much like a flounce. The leather of which the skirt is fashioned is an exceptionally soft Danish kidskin. The garment is tailored with all the grace and style that characterize the better grade of cloth skirts. Length thirty-eight to forty-four inches.

a. Of Danish Leather, in black, lined with sateen $20.00

b. Of Danish Kidskin Leather, in tan, sateen lined...$25.00

5800. Long Coat for Misses

WE have elected to present but one fur coat for misses. It will serve to represent the general character of our garments for young women. We would be pleased to make to measure any of the models presented in this catalogue which can be adapted to the service of a young miss at proportionate prices. This model is single breasted with full pouch sleeves and half belt. The same high standard which governs the tailoring of our garments for women has been exercised for the benefit of this coat. Length forty inches, in sizes ten to eighteen years.

a. Of Natural Muskrat Fur, in brown, lined throughout with silk $48.50

b. Of Russian Ponyskin, in brown, collar and cuffs of nutria fur, lined throughout with brocaded silk....$60.00

5801. Three-Quarter Coat for Misses

Saks Model

TO a greater degree than any other of the foreign designers Dunhill concerns himself with garments for misses. This coat is an adaptation of one of his new models. While it incorporates the specific features which an automobile garment demands, it is conventional enough to be of general service. The coat is double breasted, fashioned of fine broadcloth and lined throughout with hamster fur. The shawl collar and big cuffs are of beaver fur. The straps on the front, the two slit pockets and the edge are all liberally tailor-stitched. Length thirty-five to forty inches, in sizes twelve to eighteen years.

a. Of Broadcloth, in tan, brown or green, collar and cuffs of beaver fur, lined with hamster fur.....$40.00

5802. Shirt Coat for Girls

Strom Model—Patented

SINCE it is the tendency of the average young miss to outgrow her garments designed for occasions, we have elected to present this universally favored model for her service. It drapes loosely from the shoulders without defined lines in any detail, so that the garment may be of service until the miss shall have reached maturity. The yoke is of elastic rubber which leaves the coat without a vulnerable point for the rain, wind or dust. All the seams are sewn and then cemented, which makes the coat absolutely proof against even the drenching rain. Length thirty to thirty-six inches, in sizes ten to sixteen years.

a. Of Rubber, in black, yoke of elastic rubber, unlined, waterproof $10.00

5803. Long Coat for Boys

Saks Model

SINCE we are in a position to make to measure any of the garments presented in this book which may be adapted to the service of boys, we have contented ourselves with offering but one of their fur coats. It will serve to indicate the general style and incidentally the modest prices of the entire series. The model is double breasted with a shawl collar and two side pockets that have wide flaps. The garment is fashioned of wildcat—a good, serviceable fur which insures a full measure of protection from even extremely cold weather. Length thirty to thirty-eight inches, in sizes twelve to sixteen years.

a. Of Wildcat Fur, yoke and sleeves lined with satin, body with wool cloth. $35.00 5804. Poncho Coat for Men and Boys

Saks Model

IF you demand nothing further of a garment than the mere protection from the rain—if you care nothing for style and character and individuality, then this coat will be of as much service as any that our mighty collection affords. It carries the poncho principle to a practical conclusion. Through the casing around the neck a ribbon is drawn, which serves to fasten the coat snugly and leaves it without a vulnerable point. We fashion the garment for men in sizes thirty-four to forty, and for boys of twelve to eighteen years. Length forty to fifty-four inches.

a. Of Black Rubber, unlined, waterproof.
For men $5.00

b. For boys $4.75

5805. Long Coat for Boys

Strom Model—Patented

SINCE it is without defined lines and loose all over, this garment will serve the boy season after season, even if he does grow bigger. A yoke of elastic rubber is perhaps the most important detail which contributes to that feature. Yet its service is greater than that. The coat slips on over the head like a shirt. The yoke and collar set closely to the body, leaving the garment absolutely proof against rain, wind and dust. The body and skirt are extremely wide with all the seams sewn and cemented—a feature which characterizes all our waterproof coats. Length thirty to thirty-eight inches, in sizes ten to sixteen years.

a. Of Rubber, in black, unlined, waterproof $10.00

1021. Cap for Men

Saks Model—Patented

ONE of the phases which makes our stock the greatest in scope and the most complete of which we know is the number of clever patented garments and requisites of which this new cap is one of the cleverest. The upper picture illustrates the hat in conventional service. By pulling the vizor, the snaps which attach it to the crown open, and of their own accord the goggles which are attached to the crown adjust themselves over the eyes. The vizor falls below the nose, forming a shield for the mouth and chin.

a. Of Russian Ponyskin Fur, with goggles attached. $8.50

b. Of Cravenetted Cloth, in gray or brown mixtures, with goggles attached. $4.00

c. Of Danish Leather, in black or tan, with goggles attached $5.00

SO favorably were we impressed with this model which our designers conceived, that we petitioned for a patent which has been granted. The visor is flexible and easily turned up into the crown of the cap when the mask and goggles are in service as figure three depicts.

Relative to our Horns and Goggles

The Horns.—Not only do we exclude from our collection the horns made in this country and in Germany, but even those that are manufactured in the French provinces find no place with us. So that we may be in a position to pledge ourselves for the perfect tone, good service and general character of our horns, we have them wrought for us in Paris by the most skilled craftsmen of whom we know. Whether it be an inexpensive horn or one of the more costly models which you elect to order of us, you may depend upon this: the same high standard has been exercised relative to every detail.

The Goggles.—Instead of the commonplace window glass with which most of the goggles that the general market affords are fitted, ours have finely ground and perfectly adjusted lenses. Automobile Baskets and Cases

TO determine the true value of a given thing its component parts should be a factor in defining its worth. That is the manner of test to which you may subject our baskets and cases and they will not be found wanting. The fittings were selected and assembled with the purpose of presenting models which are not alone attractive but extremely serviceable as well. In their arrangement economy of space was considered, so that they would be compact yet complete. Our stock affords baskets and cases of fine randed willow in buff or white and of solid sole leather in London color, fitted with tea or luncheon service or clever combinations of them, for two, three, four or six persons.
